

If you work and are a low-income or moderate-income taxpayer, you might be eligible for the Earned Income Tax Credit — and that can lower your taxes and maybe put more money in your pocket.

But you must claim the credit on your tax return in order to receive it. Every year, thousands of working individuals and families in our community forget to claim their Earned Income Tax Credit.

Please be sure to check if you qualify for the Earned Income Tax Credit, even if you are not required to file a tax return.
